Open Invitation to Mayor Francis

DEAR MR. MAYOR: They tell us that occasionally you like to dance and that at all times you enjoy good music.

That, sir, is the reason we are inviting you to be present at the Ogden musicians' ball to be given next Tuesday evening at the White City.

The music is to be unusually good—music by a big band and by a big orchestra.

We need money for our relief fund. So we decided to give another dance. Every member of the union is pledged to give his services that night free of charge.

Thus, Mr. Mayor, we are enabled to pick an orchestra of the best instrumentalists in Ogden; also a band made up of the best bandmen in the city. The band will play one and one-half hours. Then the orchestra will provide the dance music until midnight.

Even with these extra fine features we are only charging 75 cents for a ticket for two and we are paying the war tax ourselves.

Shall you be there, mayor?
Yours for rhythm and harmony,
OGDEN MUSICIANS' PROTECTIVE UNION.

WADE UPON STAND IN DIVORCE CASE

Alvin F. Wade was on the witness stand this morning in the district court to aid himself against the accusations made by his wife, Verna Wade, in bringing suit for divorce on grounds of non-support and cruelty.

Mr. Wade said that at all times he had provided the common necessities of life for his wife and baby, but due to his not having been steadily employed at all times he was not able to provide luxuries. He declared he had done his best to make his home comfortable, but his wife frequently complained that she was tired of cooking and would go to the home of her parents for meals.

The husband denied that the home was ever cold due to lack of fuel and said that his wife was given the profits made through the sale of milk from their cow, which amounted to between $25 and $50 a month. He purchased provisions in addition to letting his wife have this money, he testified.
